Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

I first met 8-year-old Katy on a rainy afternoon. I was a nurse at a hospital. Katy was there because she felt a lot of pain. The doctors located a problem at the base of her brain. I knew she was special. I'll always remember her.

When I entered Katy's room, she was not in her bed. She was in a chair next to Sara, a little girl. Though Katy was in pain, she was playing with Sara. It took a lot of effort for Katy just to sit in the chair. But she continued playing with Sara because it made Sara happy.

Katy was always smiling and never appeared to be in pain. She refused to just lie in bed. One day I found her painting a picture. Later, she gave it to one of the older patients. Another day she went outside to get flowers for another sick girl. Katy made everyone smile.

The doctors hurried to fix the problem in Katy's brain. The operation was successful! Katy soon recovered and was able to leave the hospital a month later.

I have had a long career as a nurse. I have met many patients. However, I have never met another girl like Katy. Even after she got better, she still came to the hospital. She played various games with the young patients. She read many books to the older patients. She is a hero to me and everyone else at the hospital because of her kind heart.

B) READING COMPREHENSION (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Have you ever entered a rainforest? It is a special, dark place where trees grow very tall and millions of animals, insects, and plants live and grow there. A rainforest is found in hot and humid parts of the world. It rains a lot there. Trees grow so closely that their branches and leaves slow the rain to reach the ground.

Rainforests are about 6% of Earth's surface. The largest rainforest and the most enormous is the Amazon in South America. It covers almost five million square kilometers. The second largest rainforest is in Western Africa. There are also rainforests in America, Asia, Australia, and the Pacific Islands

Rainforests provide us with many things. Half of the world's species of animals and plants live in the rainforests. Eighty percent 80% of the food we eat first grew there. Twenty-five percent 25% of the medicine we take when we are sick is made of plants that grow only in rainforests. The Amazon Rainforest is called the "lungs of our planet" because it produces twenty percent 20% of the world's oxygen. It also gives us one fifth ($\frac{1}{5}$) of the world's fresh water.

With all the good things we get from rainforests, we are destroying them. People cut them down to make fields for cows or to grow plants. Destroying rainforests will result in more pollution, less rain, and less oxygen for the world.

- Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

These days, more and more children suffer from obesity. A name for being extremely overweight is obese. Why is this happening? Doctors, teachers, and other experts believe that children are not getting the right amount of exercise and are not eating the right kinds of food. In the past, children used to be more active. There was a lot of work to be done. Children helped in the housework. They didn't have much time to sit around. Nowadays, children go to school and come home to watch the television or play video games. Too many of their activities involve sitting and not being active enough. Children are not getting enough exercise, such as running, walking, or riding a bike.

Another main reason for obesity in children is the types of food they eat. More and more families are eating at restaurants or fixing quick meals that are full of high calories. These types of food begin to add up day after day. Children are eating too many of the wrong foods and not enough of the right ones.

Some of the foods that children should be eating include fruits, vegetables, dairy, grains, cereals, meat and poultry. These types of foods can help children maintain their weight and help the body fight disease. Children need to be taught about the foods they eat and the food choices they make.

It was a sunny Saturday afternoon, and I was going to take my driving test for the fifth time. I was quite nervous as my father had told me "This is your last try, son!" The examiner, Mr. Smith had asked me to drive in heavy traffic across Paris. However, I felt I did quite well this time. Mr. Smith then instructed me to drive out of the city.

I thought to myself that this was much easier after the crowded city tour. I felt that this time I would succeed, I needed my driving license badly for my new job, and I then felt less nervous. Mr. Smith seemed satisfied with my driving, and with a smile, he said, "Just one more thing, Mr. Cooper, let us suppose that an animal or a child unexpectedly crosses the road in front of you. When I tap on the window, I want you to stop the car instantly."

I continued driving the car along the road. After a while, Mr. Smith tapped on the window again. Though the sign was very clear, I didn't get it right, so it took me so long to react. Read the following text carefully then answer the questions below:

A girl sat in the kitchen with her mother. She started telling her about the difficulties she was facing in life. Her school subjects were tough, and she didn't have enough time to see her family and friends. She complained that she could never be able to manage her days.

Her mother listened to her and started to move around the kitchen. She put a carrot, an egg, and some coffee beans in three small pots of water on the cooker and turned on the fire. Her daughter was confused and didn't understand what her mother was doing. The mother smiled and said, 'Do you see how these different things have transformed to other things in the boiling water?'

She put the carrot in a bowl and was able to crush it easily with a fork. 'The carrot was strong, but now it is soft and easy to crush. Will you allow hard times to make you weak?' Then she removed the egg's shell and said, 'The egg was liquid on the inside, but now it is solid. Will you allow hard times to make you tough and bitter?'

Finally, she gave her daughter a cup of delicious coffee and said, 'The coffee beans have only become better. The hot water, just like hard times, have allowed the coffee to be stronger, and to give out an amazing smell and delicious flavour. Therefore, it is better to be like coffee beans.'

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

I first met 8-year-old Katy on a rainy afternoon. I was a nurse at a hospital. Katy was there because she felt a lot of pain. The doctors located a problem at the base of her brain. I knew she was special. I'll always remember her.

When I entered Katy's room, she was not in her bed. She was in a chair next to Sara, a little girl. Though Katy was in pain, she was playing with Sara. It took a lot of effort for Katy just to sit in the chair. But she continued playing with Sara because it made Sara happy.

Katy was always smiling and never appeared to be in pain. She refused to just lie in bed. One day I found her painting a picture. Later, she gave it to one of the older patients. Another day she went outside to get flowers for another sick girl. Katy made everyone smile.

The doctors hurried to fix the problem in Katy's brain. The operation was successful! Katy soon recovered and was able to leave the hospital a month later.

I have had a long career as a nurse. I have met many patients. However, I have never met another girl like Katy. Even after she got better, she still came to the hospital. She played various games with the young patients. She read many books to the older patients. She is a hero to me and everyone else at the hospital because of her kind heart.

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Today, millions of people want to learn or improve their English, but sometimes it is difficult to find the best way. Is it better to study abroad in an English-speaking country such as Britain or America?

The advantages of studying in Britain or America are clear. For example, you will be able to listen to the language all the time. You will be surrounded completely by the language wherever you go. This will give you many chances to practise your English skills by communicating with native English speakers. Another advantage to studying abroad is understanding the culture behind the language and being able to use English confidently in different new situations.

On the other hand, there are also advantages to studying in your home country. You do not have to make big changes to your life. It is also a lot cheaper than going to an English-speaking country. If you have a good teacher, you can learn in a more focused way.

So, if it is not possible for you to travel to an English-speaking country, find ways to make English part of your everyday life. For example, listen to English news and stories. Practise every day, and do not be afraid of making mistakes. Speak only English in class and try to use it whenever possible outside the class.

a) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c and d: (6 x 2 = 12 Marks)

9. What is the main idea of the 1st paragraph?

- Many people speak different languages.
- Learning a new language has advantages and disadvantages.
- There are many English-speaking countries around the world.
- Finding the best way to improve our English is not always easy.

10. The opposite of the underlined word ‘better’ in the 1st paragraph is:

 - b) boring
 - c) worse
 - d) normal
11. The underlined word ‘it’ in the 4th paragraph refers to:
- a) English
 - b) country
 - c) life
 - d) class
12. According to the 2nd paragraph, you will understand the culture behind the English language if you:
- a) do not have a teacher.
 - b) learn English at home.
 - c) do not use English all the time.
 - d) study in an English-speaking country.
13. Which of the following sentences is NOT TRUE according to the passage?
- a) Millions of people want to learn or improve their English.
 - b) Learning English in Britain or America has advantages.
 - c) Studying English at home is much better than abroad.
 - d) You will practise your English skills if you study abroad.
14. What is the author’s purpose in writing this text?

B) Reading Comprehension (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions that follow:

Off the west coast of Scotland, there are many small island communities. Life in these communities is very different from life in big cities. People who live in cities often say that life in the islands is slow and boring. But the island people tell a different story.

Many families live by fishing or farming, and people usually have more than one job. Many families have rooms for tourists who come to visit the islands in summer. The tourists go walking and fishing and play sports. Sometimes they study Gaelic, the local language of those islanders. And they stay in a 'bed and breakfast' with a local family or in one of the small island hotels. In the long summer evenings, tourists and the islanders happily meet and talk together. They tell interesting stories of where they live and what they do.

The children on the islands go to small local schools. They have their classes in English and Gaelic. Sometimes there are only eight or ten children in one school! When they are twelve years old, they go to a secondary school in a bigger town on the island. When they finish that school, they decide whether to go to university in a big city, or to stay and work on the island.

B) READING COMPREHENSION (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Have you ever entered a rainforest? It is a special, dark place where trees grow very tall and millions of animals, insects, and plants live and grow there. A rainforest is found in hot and humid parts of the world. It rains a lot there. Trees grow so closely that their branches and leaves slow the rain to reach the ground.

Rainforests are about 6% of Earth's surface. The largest rainforest and the most enormous is the Amazon in South America. It covers almost five million square kilometers. The second largest rainforest is in Western Africa. There are also rainforests in America, Asia, Australia, and the Pacific Islands

Rainforests provide us with many things. Half of the world's species of animals and plants live in the rainforests. Eighty percent 80% of the food we eat first grew there. Twenty-five percent 25% of the medicine we take when we are sick is made of plants that grow only in rainforests. The Amazon Rainforest is called the "lungs of our planet" because it produces twenty percent 20% of the world's oxygen. It also gives us one fifth ($\frac{1}{5}$) of the world's fresh water.

With all the good things we get from rainforests, we are destroying them. People cut them down to make fields for cows or to grow plants. Destroying rainforests will result in more pollution, less rain, and less oxygen for the world.

- Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

These days, more and more children suffer from obesity. A name for being extremely overweight is obese. Why is this happening? Doctors, teachers, and other experts believe that children are not getting the right amount of exercise and are not eating the right kinds of food. In the past, children used to be more active. There was a lot of work to be done. Children helped in the housework. They didn't have much time to sit around. Nowadays, children go to school and come home to watch the television or play video games. Too many of their activities involve sitting and not being active enough. Children are not getting enough exercise, such as running, walking, or riding a bike.

Another main reason for obesity in children is the types of food they eat. More and more families are eating at restaurants or fixing quick meals that are full of high calories. These types of food begin to add up day after day. Children are eating too many of the wrong foods and not enough of the right ones.

Some of the foods that children should be eating include fruits, vegetables, dairy, grains, cereals, meat and poultry. These types of foods can help children maintain their weight and help the body fight disease. Children need to be taught about the foods they eat and the food choices they make.

Read the following passage then, answer the questions below:

It was a sunny Saturday afternoon, and I was going to take my driving test for the fifth time. I was quite nervous as my father had told me "This is your last try, son!" The examiner, Mr. Smith had asked me to drive in heavy traffic across Paris. However, I felt I did quite well this time. Mr. Smith then instructed me to drive out of the city.

I thought to myself that this was much easier after the crowded city tour. I felt that this time I would succeed, I needed my driving license badly for my new job, and I then felt less nervous. Mr. Smith seemed satisfied with my driving, and with a smile, he said, "Just one more thing, Mr. Cooper, let us suppose that an animal or a child unexpectedly crosses the road in front of you. When I tap on the window, I want you to stop the car instantly."

I continued driving the car along the road. After a while, Mr. Smith tapped on the window again. Though the sign was very clear, I didn't get it right, so it took me so long to react. I suddenly hit the brake pedal so hard that we were both thrown forward onto the windscreen. Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

I first met 8-year-old Katy on a rainy afternoon. I was a nurse at a hospital. Katy was there because she felt a lot of pain. The doctors located a problem at the base of her brain. I knew she was special. I'll always remember her.

When I entered Katy's room, she was not in her bed. She was in a chair next to Sara, a little girl. Though Katy was in pain, she was playing with Sara. It took a lot of effort for Katy just to sit in the chair. But she continued playing with Sara because it made Sara happy.

Katy was always smiling and never appeared to be in pain. She refused to just lie in bed. One day I found her painting a picture. Later, she gave it to one of the older patients. Another day she went outside to get flowers for another sick girl. Katy made everyone smile.

The doctors hurried to fix the problem in Katy's brain. The operation was successful! Katy soon recovered and was able to leave the hospital a month later.

I have had a long career as a nurse. I have met many patients. However, I have never met another girl like Katy. Even after she got better, she still came to the hospital. She played various games with the young patients. She read many books to the older patients. She is a hero to me and everyone else at the hospital because of her kind heart.

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Today, millions of people want to learn or improve their English, but sometimes it is difficult to find the best way. Is it better to study abroad in an English-speaking country such as Britain or America?

The advantages of studying in Britain or America are clear. For example, you will be able to listen to the language all the time. You will be surrounded completely by the language wherever you go. This will give you many chances to practise your English skills by communicating with native English speakers. Another advantage to studying abroad is understanding the culture behind the language and being able to use English confidently in different new situations.

On the other hand, there are also advantages to studying in your home country. You do not have to make big changes to your life. It is also a lot cheaper than going to an English-speaking country. If you have a good teacher, you can learn in a more focused way.

So, if it is not possible for you to travel to an English-speaking country, find ways to make English part of your everyday life. For example, listen to English news and stories. Practise every day, and do not be afraid of making mistakes. Speak only English in class and try to use it whenever possible outside the class.

a) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c and d: (6 x 2 = 12 Marks)

B) Reading Comprehension (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions that follow:

Off the west coast of Scotland, there are many small island communities. Life in these communities is very different from life in big cities. People who live in cities often say that life in the islands is slow and boring. But the island people tell a different story.

Many families live by fishing or farming, and people usually have more than one job. Many families have rooms for tourists who come to visit the islands in summer. The tourists go walking and fishing and play sports. Sometimes they study Gaelic, the local language of those islanders. And they stay in a 'bed and breakfast' with a local family or in one of the small island hotels. In the long summer evenings, tourists and the islanders happily meet and talk together. They tell interesting stories of where they live and what they do.

The children on the islands go to small local schools. They have their classes in English and Gaelic. Sometimes there are only eight or ten children in one school! When they are twelve years old, they go to a secondary school in a bigger town on the island. When they finish that school, they decide whether to go to university in a big city, or to stay and work on the island.
