B) Reading Comprehension (16 marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Have you ever been outside in the middle of summer and seen swarms of dragonflies? Dragonflies are large and strong. They have compound eyes, meaning that each eye is made up of thousands of tiny eyes, allowing the dragonfly to see in all directions. Dragonflies get together to hunt, catch and eat insects, but dragonflies are harmless to humans; they neither bite nor sting. You could even say that they are helpful since they eat the insects that tend to annoy us the most, like mosquitoes and flies. Dragonflies like warm weather. They need to warm up in the sun during the mornings before they take off and fly for most of the day. They occasionally land somewhere for a rest.

The dragonflies are great flyers; they fly almost all the time. They can hover like helicopters, fly fast, and even fly backwards. Walking is awkward for dragonflies, and they're not very good at it, so they do almost everything mid-flight. They catch insects while flying by making a basket with their legs and even eat them while still in flight.

- Eid Alfitr is a festival which comes after the Holy month of Ramadan.

B) Reading Comprehension (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

I enjoy watching lots of different sports, but my favourite sport is tennis. I like it because I never know how long matches will take. Sometimes, players only play for an hour and a half. At other times, they have to play for four or five hours. The longest match in tennis history took eleven hours and five minutes.

The most interesting thing about a tennis match is how it can change so quickly. You have to think very carefully about what you are doing. You need to be very fit to play the sport well. You don't have to be very tall, but it will help you a lot if you are.

The most interesting players can do more than serve fast. Nadal is my favourite because he really wants to win and he works so hard. Nadal teaches people an important message – you mustn't stop trying.

Of course I am not one of the best players of the sport. I only play in the summer vacation. I am not very good at it; I always play against my best friend from school. He usually wins. I must try harder to win.

The animals of the field and forest had a Lion as their King. When anyone had a problem, they took it to him to solve it. The Lion King never asked the animals to do anything for him. He wanted only what was best for each and every animal.

Day after day, the Lion King thought about nothing but the animals, then wrote out a Royal Order. He called all the animals to come in front of him. He stood on a hilltop and watched the animals come together from far and near.

"Hear ye, hear ye!" the wise kind Lion began, in his deep and rumbling voice which was hard to hear. He said, "I have written out my royal orders for a new way of life. From this day forward, the Wolf and the Lamb shall agree to live in peace. The Panther and the Goat shall live in peace. The Tiger and the Deer, and the Dog and the Rabbit--all shall live together in harmony."

- Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

When you walk on sand, you leave footprints behind you. Then the wind comes and covers your footprints. But there is no wind on the Moon and no rain. There is no air and no weather. So, the footprints of the first people on the Moon are still there today.

Those men are famous now. Their names are Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. They climbed out of their spaceship and stood on the moon on 20th July 1969. They looked around and saw no living things. The ground was dark grey and dusty, and the sky was black. They could see Earth in the sky. It was blue and white.

Then they started to walk on the Moon. They were in heavy spacesuits, but they could walk and jump easily. They could move six meters with each step. It was easy because everything on the Moon is lighter than on the Earth. Things are lighter because there is less gravity. This is because the Moon is smaller than the Earth.

Armstrong and Aldrin spent only three hours on the Moon, but their footprints will probably stay there for hundreds of years.

A. From a, b, c and d, choose the most suitable answer: (6X2=12 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Mountain climbing is a very dangerous sport with special requirements and strict climbing rules. The first requirement is to take a course in a well-known climbing school to learn about mountain conditions and safe climbing. Another requirement is to wear special clothing; a helmet and climbing boots. You must also carry special equipment like iron spikes.

You can climb alone but it is safer to climb in teams of two or more. When you climb in a team, each person is tied around the waist to the same rope to protect a climber who slips or slides from falling. You climb one foothold and handhold at a time. You must give exact commands and responses to your climbing partners. At all times, they must be aware of falling rocks and when they are tired, they need to find safe places to rest in.

Most climbers agree that mountain climbing is amazing. The higher you climb, the more beautiful the view is. You can see treetops, rivers, lakes and distant mountains. Above you, the sky and moving clouds are a spectacular and amazing sight. 192 words

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

I enjoy watching lots of different sports, but my favourite sport is tennis. I like it because I never know how long matches will take. Sometimes, players only play for an hour and a half. At other times, they have to play for four or five hours. The longest match in tennis history took eleven hours and five minutes.

The most interesting thing about a tennis match is how it can change so quickly. You have to think very carefully about what you are doing. You need to be very fit to play the sport well. You don't have to be very tall, but it will help you a lot if you are.

The most interesting players can do more than serve fast. Nadal is my favourite because he really wants to win and he works so hard. Nadal teaches people an important message – you mustn't stop trying.

Of course I am not one of the best players of the sport. I only play in the summer vacation. I am not very good at it; I always play against my best friend from school. He usually wins. I must try harder to win.

B. Reading Comprehension (16 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

Everyday activities like listening to loud music and playing loud video games can lead to hearing loss. Losing the ability to hear can't be cured but it can be stopped.

Block, walk and turn; that's what hearing doctors want you to do when you come across a really loud noise. Block the noise from entering your ears; walk away from it; and turn it down. Those are your first steps in staying safe. Doctors think that, 15% of all school-age children live with some hearing loss. And it's a growing problem.

There are two types of dangerous noises: sounds that are too loud and sounds that last too long. Both types can be very bad for some parts in your brain. Most people don't know that listening to headphones at full volume is really dangerous. Doctors say that "If your stereo is too loud and if you listen to it every day, it is really bad for your hearing." If your neighbours use noisy machines, close your windows and doors to block the sounds. This will protect your ears. Adding mats and carpets can be useful, too.

B) Reading Comprehension (16 marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Have you ever been outside in the middle of summer and seen swarms of dragonflies? Dragonflies are large and strong. They have compound eyes, meaning that each eye is made up of thousands of tiny eyes, allowing the dragonfly to see in all directions. Dragonflies get together to hunt, catch and eat insects, but dragonflies are harmless to humans; they neither bite nor sting. You could even say that they are helpful since they eat the insects that tend to annoy us the most, like mosquitoes and flies. Dragonflies like warm weather. They need to warm up in the sun during the mornings before they take off and fly for most of the day. They occasionally land somewhere for a rest.

The dragonflies are great flyers; they fly almost all the time. They can hover like helicopters, fly fast, and even fly backwards. Walking is awkward for dragonflies, and they're not very good at it, so they do almost everything mid-flight. They catch insects while flying by making a basket with their legs and even eat them while still in flight.

- Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

When you walk on sand, you leave footprints behind you. Then the wind comes and covers your footprints. But there is no wind on the Moon and no rain. There is no air and no weather. So, the footprints of the first people on the Moon are still there today.

Those men are famous now. Their names are Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. They climbed out of their spaceship and stood on the moon on 20th July 1969. They looked around and saw no living things. The ground was dark grey and dusty, and the sky was black. They could see Earth in the sky. It was blue and white.

Then they started to walk on the Moon. They were in heavy spacesuits, but they could walk and jump easily. They could move six meters with each step. It was easy because everything on the Moon is lighter than on the Earth. Things are lighter because there is less gravity. This is because the Moon is smaller than the Earth.

Armstrong and Aldrin spent only three hours on the Moon, but their footprints will probably stay there for hundreds of years.

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Mountain climbing is a very dangerous sport with special requirements and strict climbing rules. The first requirement is to take a course in a well-known climbing school to learn about mountain conditions and safe climbing. Another requirement is to wear special clothing; a helmet and climbing boots. You must also carry special equipment like iron spikes.

You can climb alone but it is safer to climb in teams of two or more. When you climb in a team, each climber is tied around the waist to the same rope. This is to protect a climber who slips or slides from falling. You climb one foothold and handhold at a time. You must give exact commands and responses to your climbing partners. At all times, they must be aware of falling rocks. When climbers are tired, they need to find safe places to rest in.

Most climbers agree that mountain climbing is amazing. The higher you climb, the more beautiful the view is. You can see treetops, rivers, lakes and distant mountains. Above you, the sky and moving clouds are a spectacular and amazing sight.

The animals of the field and forest had a Lion as their King. When anyone had a problem, they took it to him to solve it. The Lion King never asked the animals to do anything for him. He wanted only what was best for each and every animal.

Day after day, the Lion King thought about nothing but the animals, then wrote out a Royal Order. He called all the animals to come in front of him. He stood on a hilltop and watched the animals come together from far and near.

“Hear ye, hear ye!” the wise kind Lion began, in his deep and rumbling voice which was hard to hear. He said, “I have written out my royal orders for a new way of life. From this day forward, the Wolf and the Lamb shall agree to live in peace. The Panther and the Goat shall live in peace. The Tiger and the Deer, and the Dog and the Rabbit—all shall live together in harmony”.

All the animals were very happy, and shouted with cheer, "Oh, how we have waited to see this day, in which the weak shall live without fear, by the side of the strong, long live the lion, long live the lion!"
