Reading comprehension (4 m)

Tigers are found in many countries of Asia, such as India and China. They are the largest and the biggest cats in the world. A grown tiger is about three metres long. Its beautiful colouring makes it one the most magnificent animals.

Unlike most cats, tigers are not afraid of water. They often cool themselves in it in hot days. Tigers also go to rivers to catch fish, turtles and weak animals. Tigers can cross a river easily because they are strong animals.

Tigers hunt in the forest. They pick young animals such as rabbits, monkeys and young elephants. They sometimes hunt farm animals when they are too old to hunt.
